NOV 2009 News Stuffs

Wow, what a good showing for a dark and stormy night. It took a few minutes to clear out the meeting room of ruffraff but soon Bill and Judy, Louie and Mary Lou, Paul and the beautiful Sylvia along with Gigi, Greg and Gail, Jerry and Linda, Phil and Karen, family Baines and the club scribbler were all warm and toasty.

Paul added the 13 singles from last months 50/50

Pre Discussed Dept: The Nile is set for the 23rd of May. Spring Fling announcements have been sent to the calendars. Paul has been given our blessing to make us a plaque and send it in so we get the early discount. Bless you, Paul. Christmas Party: Paul has Chopstixs set up for the 5th. We will start at 6pm as the piano bar (where the "chopsticks" comes from) will start at 8pm. Off the menu ordering, min price $30 plus tip. Club will go for the extra 5 bucks so every paid up member will get $30 for a meal. Bring a $20 gift for a person whom you suspect might be of the same sex as you or who might wish to be the same sex as you or who is on their way to Sweden to become the same sex as you. See www.chopstixpianobar.com.

40 Years of Work Dept: Bill finally got his retirement party. They gave him a nice plaque, food and told many stories, mostly at his expense. A few that were repeated sounded like Car 54, where are you.

Stimulus Monies Dept: We sent our yearly charitable donation of 200 clams to the Cocoon House for homeless teens. This is at <http://www.cocoonhouse.org/> if you want a lookie lookie.

Stuffs Only Discussed a Little Bit Dept: A possible drive by neighborhood Xmas lights cruise MAY be still in the works for Dec. Mukilteo was mentioned. More info from the Procrastinators Club early next year.

New Stuff: Nada nada, limonada...

Good of the Order Dept: Greg and Gail's trip: Got to go to the Ben & Jerry's Production plant...the most visited place in Vermont....free Ice cream..... mmmmmmmmm First two days in Boston rain but we did all the tourist stuff Stayed at Kennebunkport Maine....almost got thrown in Jail for the BA I tried to give ole Geo SR..... Stayed in Stowe Vermont...neat old ski lodge made out of old recycled barn beams and siding... Stayed in Conway NH...Rode the Mt Washing COG Train to the top.

Froze me arse off, not even any coffee at the top, as it was too bad weather for the help to stay, but ok for tourists Road the Conway sonic RR, great scenery and beautiful colors,...we hit "PEAK" as they say.... Road the Vermont Amtrak down to Connecticut....and Visited Mystic Seaport....They are restoring the last Boston Whaler ship there ..interesting....

Stayed in Cape Cod...Across from the Kennedy Compound...beautiful...but you need cubic bucks to live there..... Last day in Boston after Gail tried the world's largest martini and I rolled her back to her room, we finished the tourist stuff, jumped on the plane and made it back in time for the swap meet on Sunday...

The Un-Run: 80 cars came in spite of the slightly cold weather. Bill and Judy, Jerry and Linda, and Terry and Vikki all went. The Vintiques put on a bargain for ten bucks. Linda guessed almost exactly the right number of bolts in a jar. There was a poker run but all cards were drawn from one spot saving a bit of running around. There was also a shuttle bus out to the Fair. A lady gave them two free tickets and the old guys got in for "senior" rates. Bad news, Judy lost her ring. Good news, Jerry found it.

The Oak Harbor Trick and Trunk was a great success. I think 500-800 little snot nose brats came by for handouts at our dozen or so cars.

In Edmonds they went through 30 gallons of cider and 3000 pieces of candy. I'll bet the dentists are happy.

In true hot rod tradition, ie: $$$, Bill put a completely new suspension under his car. Drives like a new car now.

Well, almost new.

Birthday couple Judy and Bill took home the gismo and Louie took home the 50/50.
